about redback printworx

We (redback premium ink) were Australia's original DTF consumables business in 2021 and are the Australian industry leader. We've pioneered most of the DTF products on the Australian market. We've grown with our customers and been lucky to work with some of the country's best garment print firms, who give us ideas and generously give us advice when our other customers need help. We started selling printers only in 2026, responding to a market demand for high quality, high value hardware that our print business customers can rely on to look after their own customers, consistently and reliably in turn. Our printer technician, Lucas, has great product knowledge and a great service ethic.
